A Vintage Family Experience in the 21st Century

DENVER, CO — Heartfelt warmth and family values still thrive and blossom in the penmanship of noted children's writer, Elga Haymon White. Rekindle the magic moments that brought you closer to your family with the exemplary style and wholesome traditional family ideas prevalent in A Children's Christmas Duo.

Once Upon a Christmas and Christmas in the...Land of Elsewhere by Elga Haymon White combines charm and simplicity to provide an overall family enrichment experience. More than a holiday book, A Christmas Duo is an opportunity for Parents and Grandparents to share their time and love with the children most important to them.

Designed as both a story and activity workbook, A Christmas Duo allows for direct interaction between the adult and child. The stories are bright and imaginative and the coloring book area as well as the question and answer segments present a first rate learning experience for adults and children to spend that most precious of all gifts, just being together.

In a time where everything else is faster, bigger, and more efficient, take a step back in time with Elga and remember what the holidays and family are really all about... sharing our love with those most important of all, our children.

Other creations by Elga consist of INTERNET INSIGHTS...A Collection of Writings – Books I, II, and III, Heart-to-Heart (five short stories within one book for the young at heart), and Pure Rhapsody (a book of enrapturing magical poetry). Instead of publishing her most recent children's book (now due in 2006), the author took valuable time out to visit and get to know her fans. She enjoyed success at bookstores and market areas in Colorado such as six Borders Book Stores in six different cities. Elga has enjoyed being able to work with elementary school teachers and students through their studying her books in classrooms, which presented the special togetherness of which she writes so fluently.

Our author loves to share with children and adults alike, her philosophical statement, “An artist paints a picture with paints, canvas, an easel, and a brush; a writer paints a picture with a pen and words alone.”
